

July 24, 2008

The Art Scene

BY JANET GOLLEAS

Art, Music, Jewelry

The Gallery Sag Harbor will host a benefit exhibit, featuring jewelry, sculpture, and collages by Mia Fonssagrives Solow and abstract landscapes by Michelle Suna, on Sunday from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

A catered Champagne reception will be followed by a concert at the Old Whalers Church produced by the Music Festival of the Hamptons, which will be the beneficiary of a portion of sales from the exhibit.

Ms. Solow, a fashion designer-turned-artist, will also show her fanciful sculptures, animal-inspired jewelry, and complex collages concurrently at the gallery. Ms. Solow spent a decade in Paris before returning to the States and starting her second career.

Ms. Suna, who is described in a press release as having started her artistic career at the tender age of 4, has had her work featured in films, including Will Smith's "Hitch," and the Drew Barrymore comedy "Music and Lyrics." She is also well known for being generous to charitable institutions.